Sir:

Filing of Assignment Translation Under 37 C.F.R. § 3.26

The attached Deed of Assignment of Property Right ("Assignment Letter") was executed on October 20, 2007 in the French language by Pierre Balaskovic, the inventor of the above-referenced application. Pursuant to 37 C.F.R. § 3.26 and M.P.E.P. § 302.02, the text on the attached translation has been certified as a true and accurate translation of the Assignment Letter enclosed for recordation in the above referenced application.

Remarks follow on the second page of this filing

Attachments to this filing include:

Assignment Recordation Coversheet
Certificate of Authentic Translation
Translation of Assignment Letter
Copy of Original Assignment Letter
Legal Opinion of French Counsel.

REMARKS

The attached Assignment Letter was executed by Pierre Balaskovic, the inventor of the above-referenced application and a French citizen, on October 20, 2007 in Verrières le Buisson, France. In this Assignment Letter, Pierre Balaskovic assigns all rights in "the technology" (i.e., intellectual property and know-how) financed by LTA Corporation ("Assignees") for development of lenticular airship named "Alizé."

The subject matter of the above-referenced patent application consists entirely of technology that was developed by Pierre Balaskovic and financed by LTA Corporation. Further, the subject matter of the above-referenced patent application was developed for the lenticular airship named "Alizé."

Notably, the Assignment letter was executed subsequent to the filing to U.S. Provisional Application No. 60/935,383, filed August 9, 2007, from which the present application claims priority.

Also attached is a Legal Opinion of Paul Lassus, a French attorney and member of the Paris Bar since 1977. In this opinion, Mr. Lassus states his determination that, although the inventor, Pierre Balaskovic, is currently not cooperating with the execution of papers for patent prosecution, the attached Assignment Letter is an effective assignment of the airship technology from Pierre Balaskovic to LTA Corporation under French law for purposes of patent applications relating to the airship technology.

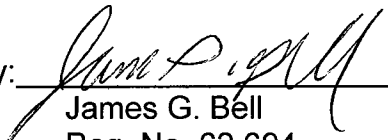

Therefore, as evidenced by these facts, and by the attached Legal Opinion, the Assignment Letter and attached translation, qualify as an assignment of rights in the above-referenced patent application to LTA Corporation, and should be recorded against the above referenced U.S. Patent Application No. 12/222,355.

Legal opinion

I am a French attorney at law since 1976, admitted to the Paris Bar since 1977 and thus qualified to opine on French law.

I am aware that LTA Corporation, 615 South Dupont Highway, Dover, Delaware 19901 and his beneficial owner and president Mr John Goelet have funded the development of certain airship technology by Pierre Balaskovic since the year 2000 (hereafter the Airship Technology)

I am aware that Pierre Balaskovic executed a statement on October 20, 2007 regarding the ownership of the Airship Technology worded as follows:

It is my opinion that Pierre Balaskovic's October 20, 2007 statement is an effective assignment of the Airship Technology from Pierre Balaskovic to LTA Corporation for the following reasons:

I am aware that Pierre Balaskovic and Air Ship Consult have since 2000 acted as contractors for John Goelet and later for LTA Corporation from whom they have received the assignment to develop the Airship Technology, to whom they have regularly reported in details about the result of their work and from whom they have regularly received important amounts of money in consideration of the expenses incurred and time spent in developing the Airship Technnolgy;

French case law rules that the assignment given to an independant researcher to develop a technology in consideration of a certain amount of money gives the client an exclusive property right on the technology developed (See Cass. Com. 24 Feb. 1998, Diver vs EDF and C.A. Paris, 17 May 1995 Acelec vs Thomson)

French authority concludes in the same way (See Jurisclasseur Brevets, fasc.100 : Yves Reboul, contrats de recherche, sect. 123)

In this respect it is my opinion that Pierre Balaskovic's statement was just an acknowledgement of the fact that the Airship Technology was always the property of John Goelet then LTA Corporation as assign of John Goelet, opinion supported by the fact that I am aware that Pierre Balaskovic has, in several occasions before the issuance of the October 20, 2007 statement, acknowledged verbally such property right.

In conclusion, it is my opinion that, despite the fact that Pierre Balaskovic is not cooperating with the execution of papers for patent prosecution (thus precluding the execution of assignment documents for any particular pending patent application) Pierre Balaskovic's October 20, 2007 statement is an effective assignment of the Airship Technology from Pierre Balaskovic to LTA Corporation for purposes of patent applications relating to the Airship Technology.

Very truly yours
