Article 13 - Intellectual and industrial property rights

- 13.1 Any and all rights, including intellectual and/or industrial property rights, to any product, work, creation and/or performance ("objects"), amongst others inventions, models, databases, trade marks, trade names, designs, computer programs, which the Employee, independently or in cooperation, has made, created or invented, belong to the Company, irrespective of whether the objects of intellectual and/or industrial property rights have been created during or outside working hours and irrespective of the nature of the Employment Agreement.
- 13.2 The Employee has no right to have his name noted in connection with the intellectual and/or industrial property rights except for circumstances as provided for by mandatory law. The Employee renounces and waives all possible moral rights under copyright law to the extent permitted by law.
- 13.3 The Employee shall inform the Company immediately if he has made, created or invented an object of intellectual or industrial property rights. If necessary and pursuant to the request of the Company, the Employee shall immediately transfer the intellectual and/or industrial property rights to the Company.
